WELCOME TO BLUE BELL

A quiet little town in rural Ohio is rocked by a potential serial killer on the loose by a neighboring town's escapee from the Psych Ward. It just happens to fall on the huge Fall Festival in the Town's Square where the victims are plentiful and unsuspecting of the terrors that strike in middle of the night! Who could be next?

Writer/Producer/Director Christopher Hensel, Jeb Stuart Duke of the Dukes of Hazzard along with Idea man & Co-Producer/Writer Paul Baker and Co-Producer/Writer, Danny Ferreira and the entire Team at Jeb Stuart Productions are looking for Private Individuals or Privately Sponsored Family Businesses that would love to be involved in the biggest movie genre today.

A MURDER/MYSTERY/HORROR/THRILLER FILM

Logline:

What happens when your town is the first stop on a killing spree as a psychotic killer escapes from his cell? Why, the killer just goes back to doing what he does best. Terrorize, hunt, track down and kill without a conscience.

These are the things that happen to a small town that just happens to be where the killer's stolen truck dies on the side of the road after his escape from a mental institute a couple of towns away. Coincidence or not? I mean really, the weekend of the biggest festival for this beautiful quiet small town with a couple of big celebrities coming back for their first old home town show in decades. Hope this psycho doesn't stick around too long, as the town's folks are very unaware of this new and evil presence that is about to unleash its terror on them. How many victims will fall prey to this silent but deadly evil? Will the Sheriff and townspeople get a grip in time before the big show? We shall see. Evil lurks in the dark everywhere. Everyone should be very aware after this weekend's festival.
